

Python Basics

Python is a high-level, interpreted programming language created by Guido van Rossum. It is widely used in data science, web development, automation, and artificial intelligence.

Key features of Python:

- Simple and readable syntax
- Large standard library
- Strong community support
- Cross-platform compatibility

Python is often chosen for rapid prototyping and AI applications.